Announcements

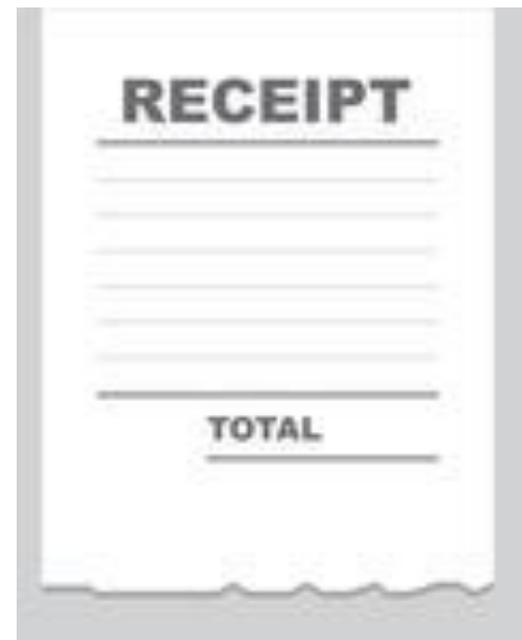

A word from the Club

Accountant:

We would like everyone to have a seamless and happy time at the club.

In an effort to maintain less confusion when it comes to billing, please make sure you check your receipts when you are signing for anything at the club.

Also in light of the many new staff members that we have please use your first and last name, as we have several duplicate last names here as well. Thank you, Dolly Schmitz, Club Accountant

Country Club Casual Dress Code at the Club

Collared shirts for men and appropriate dress for women is required. Nice jeans are acceptable (not ripped, torn, tattered, frayed or dirty). Proper Golf and Tennis attire is acceptable.

Not Acceptable

Cotton t-shirts, sweatshirts, sweatpants, tank tops, tube tops, midriff baring attire, short shorts, cut-offs and inappropriate athletic attire including yoga pants, short athletic shorts, bike shorts, and warm-up suits unless inside the Fitness Rooms, Tennis Courts or Pool areas. For sports attire that violates the Club dress code, appropriate outerwear is required as a cover up.

Hats

Should be worn with the bill facing forward (not backwards) on the Golf Course, at the Grille and on the Patios. Hats are not acceptable inside the Clubhouse for gentlemen. Dressy Hats, religious or health related head coverings will be allowed for appropriate occasions.

Shoes

Golf shoes, dress and casual shoes such as loafers and sandals are suggested footwear on Club grounds.

Children's Dress Policy

For children under 12, we ask parents to encourage appropriate dress while at the Club. Once children turn 12 years old, they are expected to comply with the adult dress code policies.

From the Golf Shop

To the Membership,

What an amazing September! Unseasonably warm temperatures and limited rain fueled another great month of golf at Eagle Brook.

Please ensure that we are fixing all ball marks and filling in fairway divots with the provided mix. Please try and make sure we adhere to the cart guidelines that are posted on a day-to-day basis. Aeration of our greens will take place the first week of October. Please read the attached resources from the USGA on why this is so important.

Let's continue to make Eagle Brook everyone's home away from home. A community in which all Members display respect and kindness towards one another to make Eagle Brook a great place for all. Wishing everyone a great October as we finish the season strong!

Respectfully,

David Krzepicki, PGA
Head Golf Professional

October Golf News

No golfer likes to see thousands of holes punched into their greens, but temporary disruption is a fair trade for future playing conditions.

Putting green aeration is never popular. Understandably, golf course superintendents and USGA agronomists field many questions about aeration each year. Here are helpful answers to some of the most common questions about this necessary practice.

Why do greens have to be aerated in the first place?

October Golf News

Aeration provides a host of benefits for our hard-working putting surfaces. It helps to relieve the compaction that comes with intense golfer and maintenance traffic. Aeration also improves air and water movement through the soil, which yields healthier grass and more consistent playing conditions. Breaking up the layer of organic material that accumulates just below the putting surface – commonly referred to as thatch – is another important benefit. The end result is firmer, smoother and healthier greens.

Removing small cores of soil reduces the amount of thatch in greens and improves drainage.

October Golf News

Why do we always aerate when the greens are perfect?

It can be frustrating to see thousands of holes punched into perfectly good greens, but there are good reasons why aeration usually occurs when greens are at their best. Aeration is stressful for putting green turf. The more favorable the growing conditions are, the quicker the greens will recover. While aerating very late or very early in the year might seem less disruptive to the golf schedule, the longer recovery time and risk of added turf damage can actually lead to more disruption. Aeration timing may also depend on seasonal changes in staffing. Performing aeration when the staff is at full strength helps expedite the process and subsequent recovery, which means normal playing conditions return sooner.

October Golf News

How long is it going to take before the greens are back to normal?

The short answer is that it depends. Recovery time varies based on the grass species, size of aeration holes, turf health and the weather. A quick recovery is everyone's preference, so superintendents take various steps to ensure the fastest possible turnaround. They choose a time for aeration when putting greens are typically healthy and growing well so they can recover more easily.

Superintendents also typically fertilize the greens before or during aeration so that the grass grows rapidly through the topdressing sand and fills the gaps created by aeration.

Why can't we skip it?

Skipping aeration "just this once" may seem appealing when the weather is good and golf season is in full swing, but missing aeration events can allow unseen problems to develop, causing greater disruption in the future. If the thatch layer is allowed to build without periodically being broken up and diluted with sand, it can turn into a dense sponge that traps water near the surface. This leads to soft, bumpy playing conditions and greens that are increasingly vulnerable to damage from disease and traffic. Staying on top of aeration requirements means a less-disruptive aeration schedule and less risk of poor playing conditions.

Without aeration, a dense thatch layer can accumulate below the putting surface. Excessive thatch can make greens vulnerable to damage.

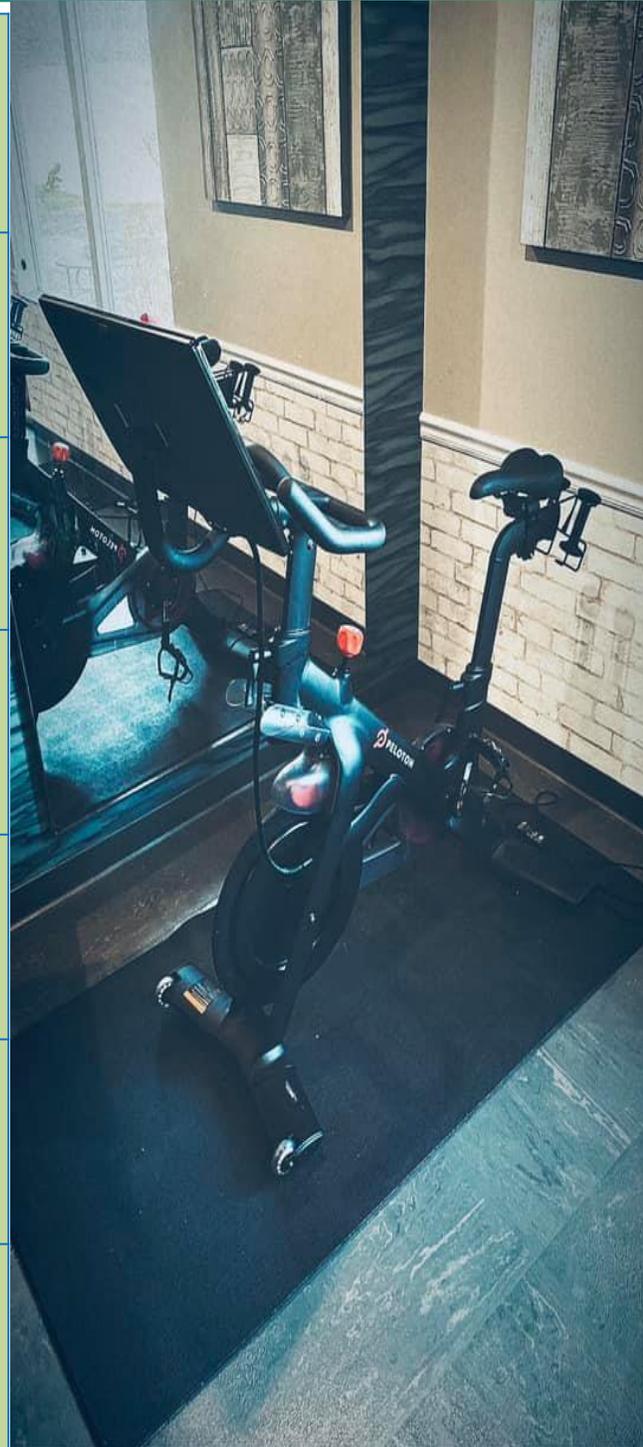

Putting green aeration can be a painful process for golfers and superintendents alike, but the benefits have been proven by scientific research and decades of experience. A week or two of bumpy conditions can be aggravating when the weather is perfect, but it's a fair trade for healthy greens and great playing conditions in the months and years to come.

Thanks for your understanding.
